Newsletter -- December 2010

As the year-end approaches, we look back over the events which have crowded this year, and take the occasion to thank you for your continued collaboration.

In March, we had a small celebratory event to mark the 30 years of Shradhanjali. Many friends, well-wishers, previous workers and collaborators joined us for a short concentration followed by high tea. With flowers adorning every corner, Shradhanjali looked suitably bedecked and beautiful, and the afternoon was enjoyed by all. On the following day, we had opened our gates to anyone who wished to visit and even try their hand at making their own cards. This too was a great success. –

We have added several lovely new items to the existing range. We hope to receive your orders for these, and wish you a wonderful 2011:

Calendar 2011 – Available in 4 colours, Acacia auriculiformis wood base.

Lampshades: Shradhanjali explores new forms and designs in these innovative and original lampshades, in hanging, wall and table models using lokta, glassine or handmade paper.

Small breakfast table: Neat and petite folding tables, ideal for a floor-seating corner, for breakfast-in-bed, or late night work in bed. In Millingtonia hortensis, or Acacia auriculiformis wood, with assorted designs and paper colours.

White on White — classic beauty transcends time and fashion, as is the case with this series of white on white. Interestingly shaped leaves are hand painted white and then pasted on white handmade paper in 4 assorted designs. The leaves used are: carica papaya, eucalyptus, bauhinia purpurea, and ficus bengalensis (banyan).
